

ABSTRACT

A concrete-based floor or coating with anti-microbial effect, comprising a base material and an effective amount of at least one microbicide organic agent, mixed directly with the base material is described; the base material is a mixture containing cement, fine aggregates, solid aggregates, additives and water; where the microbicide agent mixed with the base material provides an efficient and long lasting anti-microbial effect.

15

20

25